Walden Blackboard Help Topic: How to Submit an Assignment

Walden 2012

Welcome to the “How to Submit an Assignment” demonstration.

After you have completed this demonstration, you will be able to:

1. Identify the difference between Turnitin and non-Turnitin submission links.
2. Identify the acceptable file types for Turnitin and non-Turnitin submission links.
3. Name your assignment file using the naming convention provided with the assignment submission link.
4. Submit an assignment using a Turnitin submission link.
5. Submit an assignment using a non-Turnitin submission link.

In your online courses, you will be required to submit various types of assignments. When submitting these assignments, you will submit them using either a Turnitin submission link or a non-Turnitin submission link, depending on the nature of the assignment.

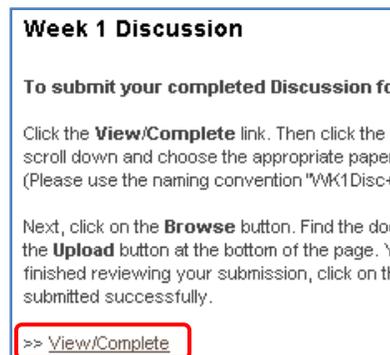

Turnitin is a plagiarism prevention tool, which will allow you to be proactive in identifying potential plagiarism issues. For more information about Turnitin and Walden University's Academic Integrity policy visit the Academic Integrity area in the left navigation bar of your classroom.

Let's start by taking a look at the difference between Turnitin and non-Turnitin submission links.

When you navigate to an assignment, there will be a submission link underneath the directions.

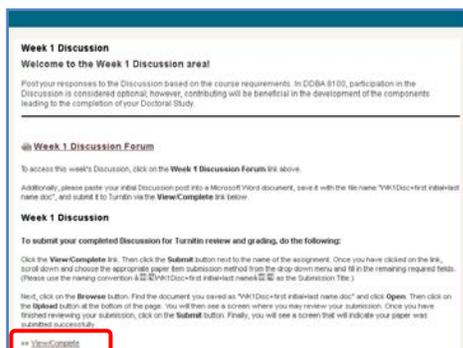

The assignment submission link will either be a Turnitin submission link or a non-Turnitin submission link. To identify whether the assignment link that you see is a Turnitin or non-Turnitin submission link, look for the type of link that is available for you to click on in order to submit your assignment.

Step 1:

Identify the Difference Between Turnitin and Non-Turnitin Submission Links

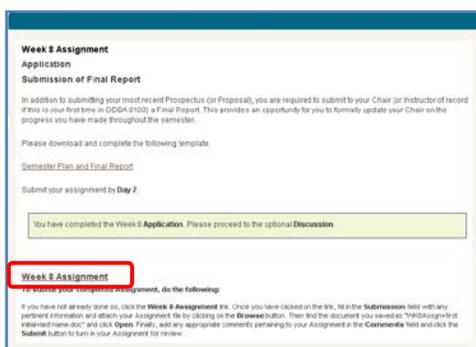

Turnitin submission links are identified by a View/Complete link. If you see a View/Complete link present, the assignment is being submitted via Turnitin.

Example of Turnitin Assignment Link

Non-Turnitin submission links are identified by the hyperlinked title of the assignment submission link.

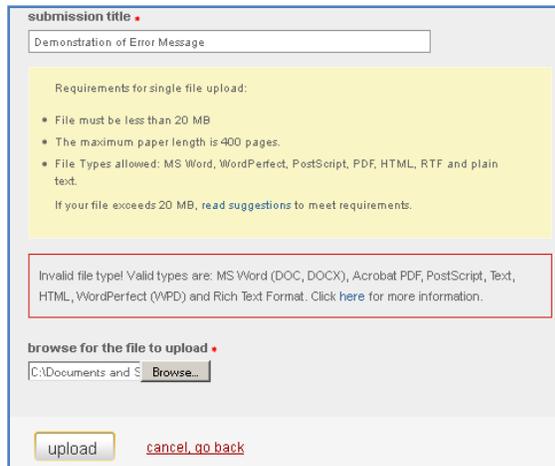

Example of Non-Turnitin Assignment Link

Now that we have identified the difference between a Turnitin and non-Turnitin submission link, let's take a look at the types of files that can be submitted to each.

Step 2: Identify the Acceptable File Types for Turnitin and Non-Turnitin Submission Links

Once you have identified the type of submission link that is located on an assignment page, it is important to understand the types of files that can be submitted using that submission link.

The screenshot shows a submission interface with a red error message box. The submission title is "Demonstration of Error Message". The requirements for a single file upload are: File must be less than 20 MB, maximum paper length is 400 pages, and allowed file types are MS Word, WordPerfect, PostScript, PDF, HTML, RTF, and plain text. The error message states: "Invalid file type! Valid types are: MS Word (DOC, DOCX), Acrobat PDF, PostScript, Text, HTML, WordPerfect (WPD) and Rich Text Format. Click here for more information." Below the error message is a file browser showing the path "C:\Documents and S" and an "upload" button.

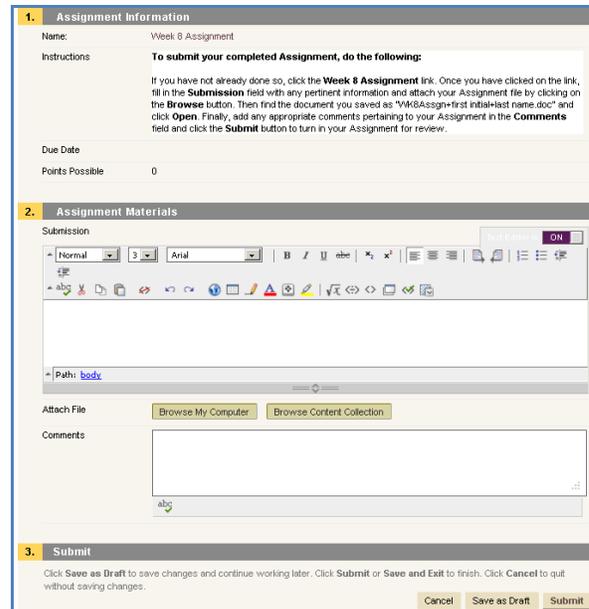

Part of a Turnitin Submission Page

The instructions describe acceptable file formats, and an error message will appear if an attempt to upload an unacceptable file is made.

Turnitin submission links will accept the following file types:

1. Microsoft Word
2. WordPerfect
3. PostScript
4. PDF
5. HTML
6. RTF
7. Plain text

Note that Turnitin will accept these types of files, as long as they contain text. A PDF document consisting of scanned images will be rejected.

The screenshot shows a submission interface with three sections: 1. Assignment Information (Name: Week 8 Assignment, Instructions: To submit your completed Assignment, do the following: If you have not already done so, click the Week 8 Assignment link. Once you have clicked on the link, fill in the Submission field with any pertinent information and attach your Assignment file by clicking on the Browse button. Then find the document you saved as "WK8Assign+first initial+last name.doc" and click Open. Finally, add any appropriate comments pertaining to your Assignment in the Comments field and click the Submit button to turn in your Assignment for review. Due Date, Points Possible: 0), 2. Assignment Materials (Submission field with a rich text editor, Attach File buttons: Browse My Computer, Browse Content Collection, Comments field), and 3. Submit (Click Save as Draft to save changes and continue working later. Click Submit or Save and Exit to finish. Click Cancel to quit without saving changes. Buttons: Cancel, Save as Draft, Submit).

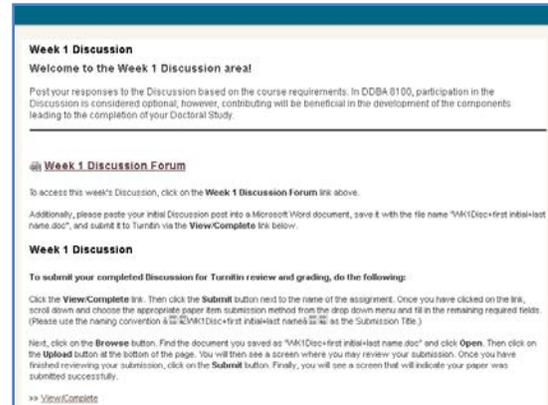

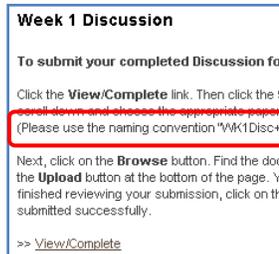

A Non-Turnitin Submission Page

A specific file type may be described in the instructions, but the system will accept almost any file type.

Non-Turnitin submission links will accept all file types, including Microsoft Excel and Microsoft PowerPoint, as well as any other type of file that you might need to attach when submitting an assignment.

Let's continue by taking a look at how to name an assignment file using the naming convention provided with an assignment submission link.

Step 3:
Name Your Assignment File Using the Naming Convention Provided With the Assignment Submission Link

Example of Turnitin Submission Directions

Parts of Sample Submission Instructions

Both Turnitin and non-Turnitin submission instructions should describe the file naming convention.

Before submitting a file using a submission link, you must name it according to the file naming convention that is provided with the assignment submission link on your assignment page. Using this file naming convention will ensure that your Instructor can locate, grade, and return your assignment to you in a timely manner.

Example of Non-Turnitin Submission Directions

To locate the file naming convention that you need, navigate to the assignment submission link and read the submission directions. These directions provide guidance on how to name your assignment file.

Once you have determined the appropriate name for your file, save your assignment file.

Remember that you must save your assignment file before submitting it via the assignment submission link.
