Throughout each week as you work through your required material and assignments, you will be directed back to Blackboard to actually submit your work. For example, you will read the instructions for your discussion submission and then click the “Week # Discussion” link and you will be directed to the appropriate area within Blackboard for you to initiate your discussion post.

A second navigational pane is available by clicking on the menu expand button along the top of the page. The navigational menu that will appear and will allow you to access a different week, the Course
